Biographical Note

While Northern men's basketball has developed the largest following of any sport on campus the athletic tradition at Northern includes much more than men's basketball. Many All-Americans, hall-of-fame coaches, and national champions have walked the campus. As the school grew and developed, so did the athletic program. Northern has gone from a normal school with a pair of varsity sports playing high school teams to a university with fifteen school-sponsored sports playing teams all over the country. The athletic program which started in 1902 with men's basketball and football has made additions as recently as 1997 with women's soccer.¹
