Historical Note

The library at Northern Normal and Industrial School was first housed on the first floor of Central Hall. The library expanded to other rooms and floors before being relocated to the third floor of Central Hall in 1911. The growth of the library was slow because of lack of space and money. It was not until 1955 that the legislature authorized the building of a library. Beulah Williams Library (named after Beulah Williams, a former student, who was an assistant librarian from 1926 to 1937 and the head librarian from 1939 until her death in 1947) was occupied on July 1, 1957. Williams Library was designated as a Federal Documents Depository in 1963. The library became a member of OCLC in 1970. In 1972, the library changed its method of classifying books from the Dewey classification to the Library of Congress classification system. The library was renovated from 1977 to 1979 and a new addition was built in 1996.

Scope and Content

The formats in this collection include architectural drawings, books, card catalogs, correspondence, floor plans, handouts, manuals, newsletters, newspapers and newspaper clippings, posters, and reports. This collection is divided into two series: History and Public Relations. Both series are arranged chronologically. This collection is entirely in English.

Note: Non-Archival records are physically housed with the Beulah Williams Library Archival collection. The most recent 5 years of payments received reports and ILL statistics (7 linear feet) are kept with the library collection. They are not included in the archival collection or in this finding aid as they are not permanent records.
